

National Condom Distribution Service

Report of activities for 2018

About the HSE Sexual Health & Crisis Pregnancy Programme

The HSE Sexual Health and Crisis Pregnancy Programme (SHCPP) is a national programme tasked with implementing Ireland's first framework for sexual health and wellbeing, the National Sexual Health Strategy 2015–2020.

The Programme is one of a number of national policy priority programmes situated within the national Strategic Planning and Transformation function of the Health Service Executive (HSE).

The Programme delivers a programme of research; funding initiatives, including crisis pregnancy counselling services and relationships and sexuality education programmes; communications campaigns; information provision; and policy initiatives.

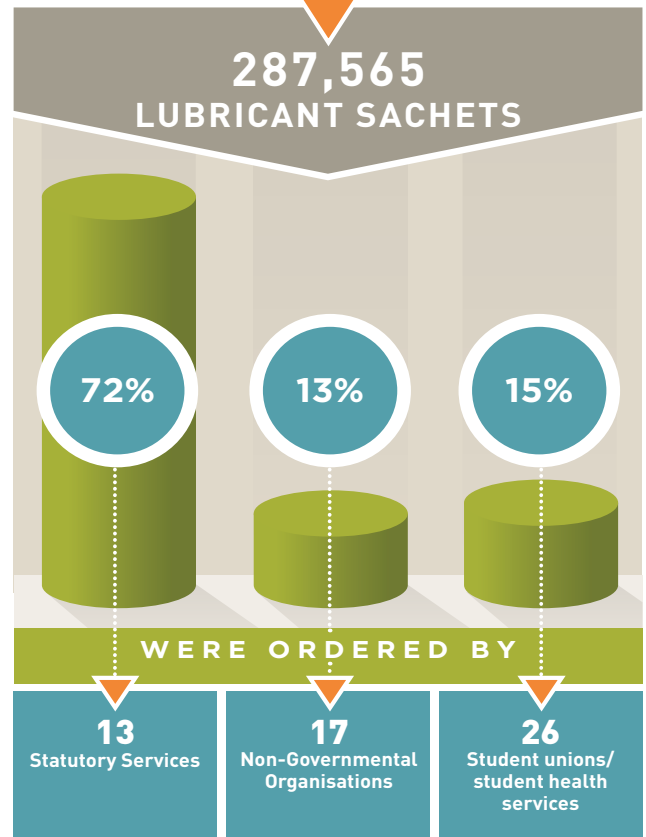

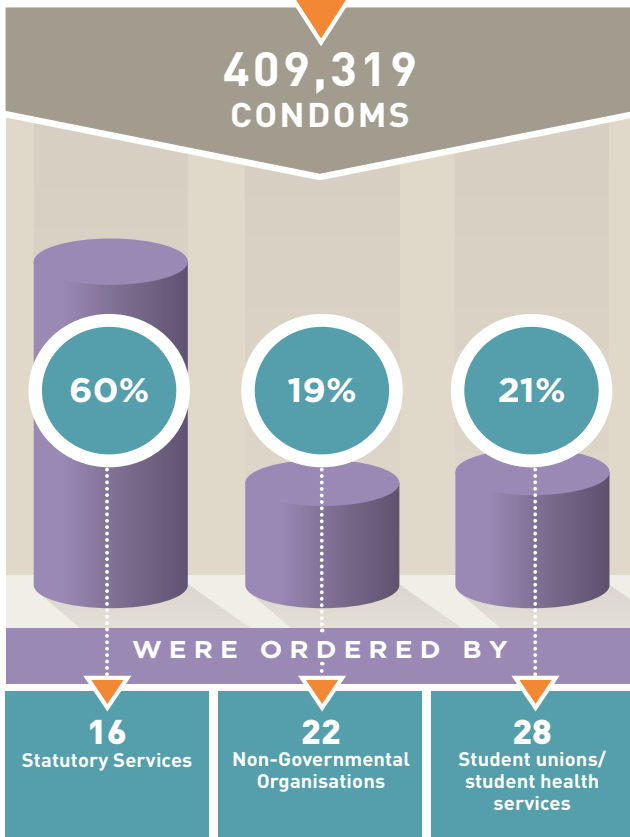

The Programme established the National Condom Distribution Service (NCDS) in October 2015 to assist in meeting the strategic aims of the strategy. The NCDS functions as a central point for distributing free condoms and lubricant sachets to HSE services and other organisations who work directly with individuals and groups who may be at increased risk of negative sexual health outcomes.

1. Introduction

The National Condom Distribution Service (NCDS) was established by the HSE Sexual Health and Crisis Pregnancy Programme (SHCPP) in October 2015 to help meet the strategic aims of the National Sexual Health Strategy 2015–2020,¹ namely to improve sexual health and wellbeing and reduce negative sexual health outcomes, such as sexually transmitted infections (STIs) and crisis pregnancies.

The NCDS functions as a central point for distributing free condoms and lubricant sachets to HSE services and other organisations working directly with individuals and groups who may be at increased risk of negative sexual health outcomes. These groups are listed in the strategy. The NCDS also provides condoms and lubricant sachets to support sexual health promotional campaigns and educational initiatives.

To order from the NCDS, organisations must first register with the SHCPP for approval. Once approved, organisations create an account with healthpromotion.ie and order condoms and lubricant sachets from the website as required. All orders are approved by the SHCPP before being sent to the organisations.

2. About this report

This report presents information on the activities of the NCDS from 1 January to 31 December 2018. The information presented in this report is based on (1) data provided by the services and organisations in their application forms to the NCDS; (2) logistical information recorded by Store-All Logistics, the company responsible for distributing the products; and (3) monitoring information completed by the services and organisations at the request of the SHCPP.

The report provides information on:

- Services and organisations that ordered condoms and lubricant from the NCDS in 2018 and the groups they work with
- The number of products ordered in 2018 by services and organisations
- Distribution of condoms and lubricants by services and organisations in 2018.

3. Profile of services and organisations

Between January and December 2018, some 67 services and organisations ordered condoms from the NCDS. This included 28 student unions (SUs) and student health centres (SHCs), 22 non-governmental organisations (NGOs)/community organisations, 16 statutory services, and 1 private social care provider. The majority (56 services) also ordered lubricant sachets during 2018.

Fifty-nine services and organisations operate on a single county or regional basis, covering 21 counties in Ireland. Eight services and organisations operate on a national basis.

Statutory services

Sixteen statutory services² ordered products from the NCDS during 2018. Fourteen of these services are HSE services, while two are affiliated with Tusla – Child and Family Agency (see Table 3.1). Among the 14 HSE services, nine are clinical services and five are non-clinical services.

- HSE clinical services

Nine clinical services ordered products from the NCDS in 2018. These services include the Gay Men’s Health Service (GMHS) Clinic in Dublin; the Youth Health Service (YHS) in Cork; the Infectious Diseases (ID) Clinic at St Vincent’s University Hospital (SVUH), Dublin; and STI clinics based in hospitals in Counties Cork, Galway, Laois, Limerick, Louth and Waterford, some of which operate satellite services to nearby towns.

All clinical services planned to distribute condoms to clinic patients. For most of these services, clinic patients comprised the general public, although four services cited specific at-risk groups as the intended target for their condom distribution activities. These groups include men who have sex with men (MSM), people living with HIV (PLWHIV), students, and young people.

- HSE non-clinical services

Five non-clinical services ordered products from the NCDS in 2018. These included Health Promotion Units in Longford and Louth; the GMHS Outreach Programme; one medical social work department (MSW Dept) based in Our Lady of Lourdes Hospital (LOL), Louth; and the SHCPP via the company Headcase Marketing. Headcase Marketing operates the SHCPP’s sexual health outreach programme aimed at young people aged 18–30 years. This was formerly the Johnny’s Got You Covered sexual health promotion campaign (2012–August 2018). Since September 2018, it has been replaced by the #RespectProtect campaign, with the sexualwellbeing.ie brand.

Non-clinical services planned to distribute to a broad range of groups considered to be at increased risk of negative sexual health outcomes. These included MSM, the lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and intersex (LGBTI+) community more broadly, and young adults, as well as the general public.

² Statutory services refer to services/organisations that are established by legislation (e.g. HSE, Tusla) and are financed and provided by the State.

- Tusla – Child and Family Agency

Two Tusla services ordered products from the NCDS in 2018. These include the Aftercare Service, based in Cavan, as part of the Dublin North East Tusla area, and the Tullow Area Schools Completion Programme (SCP) in Carlow. While the Aftercare Service intended to provide condoms to the adults who have left care, the Tullow Area SCP planned to use the condoms for demonstration and educational purposes with young people and students.

NGOs/community organisations

Twenty-two NGOs/community organisations ordered products from the NCDS in 2018 (see Table 3.2). These organisations work with a range of different at-risk groups, including the LGBTI+ community, migrant populations, sex workers, young people, people living with HIV and/or STIs and hepatitis, MSM, homeless people, and people experiencing addiction issues. Some organisations also planned to provide condoms to the general public, while others used them during training/educational sessions with service users.

Student unions and student health centres

Twenty-six student unions ordered products from the NCDS, while two student health centres based on university campuses also placed orders (see Table 3.3). The Union of Students in Ireland (USI) made an application to the NCDS both for itself and on behalf of its members, which includes 21 other student unions who ordered condoms during 2018. In addition, three student unions and one student council that are not members of USI ordered from the NCDS. These include unions/councils based in Mary Immaculate College (MIC), Limerick; University College Dublin (UCD); Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland (RCSI); and Waterford College of Further Education (WCFE).

Private social care providers

One private social care provider ordered products from the NCDS in 2018. The provider, 24hr Care Services, planned to distribute condoms to young men in their care (see Table 3.4). The Residential Division of 24hr Care Services, which ordered the condoms, provides a residential service for young people who are experiencing emotional and behavioural difficulties and have previously had placements in foster or family living which has broken down.

4. Quantities of products ordered by services and organisations

This section provides information on the quantities of products ordered by services and organisations from the NCDS. The information was provided by the logistics company responsible for distributing the condoms and lubricant sachets to the HSE services and organisations.

Total products ordered

Condoms

In 2018, some 409,319 condoms were ordered from the NCDS (see Table 4.1). Statutory services accounted for the greatest source of demand as regards condoms from the NCDS and ordered 60.5% of the total number of condoms ordered in 2018 (see Figure 4.1). Condom orders from student unions and student health centres accounted for 20.8% of the total. NGOs and community organisations increased their share of the total amount of condoms ordered in 2018, accounting for 18.6% of orders.

Lubricant sachets

A total of 287,565 lubricant sachets were ordered from the NCDS in 2018 (see Table 4.1). Similar to condom orders, statutory services placed the greatest demand on the NCDS for lubricant sachets in 2018, which is 72.4% of the total number ordered (see Figure 4.2). Student unions and student health centres ordered 15.1% of the total and were the second largest source of orders for lubricant sachets. NGOs and community organisations accounted for 12.5% of lubricant sachets ordered in 2018, almost equalling student unions and student health centres. No orders for lubricant sachets were placed by private social care providers.

Statutory services

Condoms

Statutory services ordered 247,677 condoms in 2018 (see Table 4.2 and Figure 4.3). Almost one-half were ordered by the GMHS Outreach service, while 22% was ordered by the GMHS Clinic in Dublin. Together, both services accounted for 70% of condoms ordered from the NCDS. Eighteen per cent were ordered by the SHCPP via Headcase Marketing.

Key activities and events

There are a number of key activities and events during which services and organisations engage with at-risk populations and provide NCDS condoms and lubricant sachets, as well as sexual health promotion messages, information and interventions. These are detailed below.

Sexual Health Awareness and Guidance (SHAG) Week

SHAG Week is a key opportunity to deliver targeted sexual health and wellbeing messages and information to third-level students. Four organisations noted that they distributed condoms and lubricant to students during SHAG Week, including AIDS West, GOSHH, HSE Health Promotion Longford, and USI. Activities related to SHAG Week where condoms were distributed include hosting information stands, information sessions, and campus outreach.

World AIDS Day (WAD)

Three organisations distributed condoms during events marking World AIDS Day 2018, including STI Clinics, Dublin North East; AIDS West; and the Sexual Health Centre in Cork. Activities related to WAD primarily include hosting an information stand.

LGBT Pride

LGBT Pride was utilised as an opportunity to distribute condoms by four organisations, namely AIDS West, GOSHH Midwest, LINC and SpunOut. Activities included supplying LGBTI+ social venues with condoms and engaging people in on-street activities at related events.

Direct provision centres

Three NGOs/community organisations, namely AIDS West, AkiDwA and Tralee International Resource Centre, distributed condoms among direct provision centres in 2018. This involved a combination of hosting workshops with residents and making condoms available to take within the premises.

Festivals

Four organisations, including AIDS West, GOSHH Midwest, HSE SHCPP and LINC, identified a number of festivals at which condoms were distributed. These include the Galway Races Summer Festival; The Outing Festival; Cork Women's Fun Weekend; Body & Soul; Bare in the Woods; Longitude; All Together Now; Castlepalooza; Beatyard; Electric Picnic; and Boxed Off.

Outreach activities

Seventeen services and organisations distributed condoms and lubricant sachets during outreach activities in 2018 (see Table 5.5).

16	SpunOut.ie (national)	Outreach at Dublin Pride as well as fairs and festivals
17	Tralee International Resource Centre	Local direct provision centres

6. Summary

Orders to the NCDS increased in 2018 when compared to 2017. Fifteen more organisations ordered from the service compared with the previous year, providing increased scope and opportunity to distribute more condoms to individuals who are disproportionately affected by negative sexual health outcomes, including MSM, young people, students, asylum seekers, people who inject drugs, sex workers, people who are homeless, STI clinic patients, people living with HIV, and members of the LGBTI+ community through clinical, educational and outreach settings.
